The oldest child Howard was blind and never married. He lived much of his life with his brother Laurens.

344. Judson HESS[8]

Hazel Shackleton lived most most of her married life in Chadwicks. After her husband died she moved to Mill Place, Sauquoit, N.Y. William was a mechanic. He also did farm work and also worked hauling milk from farms in a truck. Gertrude Morse lived in Lena most of her life. She died at the Fox hospital in Oneonta. Lena is a section within New Lisbon, NY and Emory Morse had a dairy farm there.

Howard fell and hit his head on a stone when he was 14 or 15 years old and became blind.

Judson taught grade school in West Burlington NY as a young adult. As his family grew, he switched to farming to better support them. About 1900 he moved from Burlington to Otego, NY - a small town between Fly Creek & Schuyler Lake. About 1907 he moved to Hemlock Hill in Hartwick where he lived the remainder of his life. On his dairy farms he had 30-40 cows and also raised hops. He died at the Oneonta, NY hospital.

Bernice When Otto Iversen was 16 years old, he came to NJ from Denmark. He stayed there for a while and then moved to Cassville, NY. Bernice + Otto were married at the Methodist parsonage in Edmeston.

After her father died, Bernice went to live with her father's cousin Dorrence Chad Talbot and his family in New Lisbon.

Otto died at St. Vincent's Hospital in Jacksonville Fla,

Bernice and Otto were divorced several years after their marriage.

Bernice + Otto bought a home in Utica at 198 Roosevelt Drive and lived there the first two years of their marriage. During this time Otto worked as a Crane operator for the state of New York. In 1929 they moved to a farm in Fly Creek for 1-2 years, then to a farm at Paris Hill near Utica, then to Brumfield Street in Utica, then to Clinton, for a short while, and then to a farm at Jerusalem Hill near Frankfort, NY for 4 years. During this time Otto was employed primarily as a

344. JUDSON HESS[8]

Farm laborer. Otto and Bernice then bought a farm in Newport, NY and Otto was a dairy farmer there for 16 years with 30-35 cows!

During WWII, Otto worked at the Savage Arms plant in Utica and also at the Remington Arms plant in Ilion.

In Dec. 1961, Bernice & Otto moved to Jacksonville, Fla. While in Florida, Bernice worked for a period of nine years providing child care for various professional families.

In 1982 Bernice moved from Jacksonville to Frankfort, NY where she now (1989) lives.

344. JUDSON HESS[8]

The ten children in this family all used nicknames for each other. The nicknames were: Howard ("Jim"), Worthington ("Ace" or "Hess"), Hazel ("Zill"), Gertrude ("Jane"), Crosswell ("Hank" or "Boone"), Nevilla Taine ("Lanny" or "Taine"), Laurens ("Bill" and later "Bob"), Bernice ("Skelzie"), Richard ("Cobbie"), Earl ("Oatie" or "Still").

Judson died of cancer. Jennie Lynn died of peritonitis following a ruptured appendix.

Judson sang in the choir of the West Burlington Episcopal Church before leaving West Burlington about 1900. He would take his young daughter Hazel into the choir with him and she would sing also and she had a lovely voice.

After leaving West Burlington, Judson moved first to the "Pettingill Farm" in New Lisbon. Bernice was born on this farm. He then moved to the "Kelsey Farm" in Otsego between Fly Creek & Schuyler Lake.

within the family, Crosswell was also known as "Skinner", Gertrude as "Spike", and Bernice as "Beano", and Taine as "TNT" or "Little Man".

Judson moved February 15, 1911 from the Kelsey Farm

344. Judson Hess[8]

to Hartwick. The household furniture was moved by horse-drawn sleighs over the unplowed roads.

Taine enlisted in WWI with his brother Boone and they fought together in France. Taine was too young to enlist and so he said he was older than he really was.

403. Nevilla Taine[9]

Taine had a dairy farm in Richfield, NY. In 1941 his barn burned down. He lost every one of his 50 cows, but all six horses were saved. During the fire, his tamest horse kicked him.

After the fire, he sold the farm and moved to Worcester, NY and bought the American Hotel there which had 10 or 12 rooms for guests. He ran the hotel for 2 or 3 years. He then moved to Fly Creek and worked at the Remington Arms factory in Ilium during the years 1945-47.

Ruth served for 2½ years with the marines.

After Taine's death, Mary Lulek spent the winters in Michigan with Ruth's children Donna and Patricia. Mary died at Donna's home in Michigan.

The cause of the barn fire in 1941 was never determined.

Taine sold his farm in Fly Creek in the early 1960s and lived in a trailer until his death.

Ruth and Raymond Kelly were divorced. Patricia Kelly now (1989) lives in Arlington, Texas and is married to Augie Gardino. No children.

403. Nevilla Taine

Donna Kelly has been married twice. Has a boy and girl by first husband.

within the family, Taine also had the nicknames "TNT" and "Little Man".

Taine was named for a minister named Nevilla Taine.

Taine was in company A of the 27th Division during WWI and was gassed during the war. Once he and 11 others went out on patrol and were ambushed by a German Unit. Five of the 12 were killed and Taine had a close call with a bullet going through the pack on his back.

Laurens worked as a farmer on perhaps ten different farms in the Fly Creek, NY general area until about 1950. He and his family then moved to Schenectady, NY and lived at a gas station where Laurens worked during the day pumping gas. After a year or two in Schenectady, he returned to Herkimer, NY and went to work for the municipal power company as a handyman tending boilers, etc. and retired from this job at age 62.

Laurens then moved to Northville, NY for a while and later moved to an apartment in Ilion, NY where he died in 1983.

Phylis' ashes were spread over the graves of her three dogs at her request.

Richard was given the nickname "Cobby" at a very young age. Cobby worked as a farm hand as a young adult on dairy farms in Hartwick and Fly Creek. In May 1942 he went to work for the Delaware and Hudson Railroad in Worcester, NY. On this job he repaired track. Later that year he was drafted by the Army and served in the Quartermaster Corps; first at Fort Lee, Virginia and later at Fort Shelby, Mississippi. In the Quartermaster Corps he drove trucks carrying soldiers. He was discharged on April 17, 1943.

After leaving the Army, Cobby worked a short time as a machinist for the Remington Arms

605. Richard Schuyler[9]
Company in Ilion. He then worked a short time as a farm hand on a dairy farm in Mohawk NY. As a farm hand, he lived on the farm and got room and board. Farm chores included milking, plowing, dragging (after plowing), etc. He then worked during 1945-46 at a saw mill in Oakville, NY.

Cobby then went to work as a farm hand in Fly Creek, NY. While at this job, he met Phylis who was divorced and was working at a laundry in Cooperstown. Shortly after their marriage, they moved to Cooperstown where they rented a place.

In Cooperstown, Cobby worked three years for Mrs. Finney, a well-to-do widow. Cobby did lawn work, gardening, and general maintenance work for Mrs. Finney. During the last few months working for Mrs. Finney, Cobby also worked as a cleaning man at the Otsego Hotel in Cooperstown.

Cobby then worked as a carpenter for several contractors in Cooperstown building houses until he retired at age 62. After retiring Cobby & Phylis moved to Fly Creek where they rented a place in the village for a short time and then about 1968 moved to the home that had once belonged to Phylis' step mother on Rt. 28. Cobby now (1989) lives at this home.

A short time after their marriage, Phyllis stopped working at the Cooperstown Laundry and started working at the Cooperstown Dry Cleaners where she worked for 20 years.

After his father's death, Richard stayed for a year with his older sister Hazel and later stayed for a while with his older sister Gertrude.

Earl moved from Herkimer, NY to Bristol, Tenn in 1980.

Earl had the nickname "Oatie" when he was growing up. He now (1989) has the nickname "Still".

Earl was born on the "Kelley farm" in Otsego, NY near Schuyler Lake.

Medwin was injured at birth and suffered a brain injury and also was unable to walk. He had a terrific memory. He enjoyed listening to radio and watching television and had memorized the radio and television program schedules. He liked to change his voice and imitate the radio and television characters.

606. Earl Stillman[9]

Gerald Telle worked for the Univac Company in Utica, NY. In 1977 they closed their Utica operation and he transferred to their operation in Bristol, Tenn.

After Earl's father died, he went to live with his older sister Gertrude. From 1934 to 1937 he worked at the tanneries in Middleville, New York. He then worked at the "Moon Farm" in Middleville for one year "on the halves". He and his family lived on the farm and operated it and each month the dairy would send ½ the milk check to Earl and the other half to the farm owner. He then worked one year "on the halves" on the "Fitch Farm in Middleville. At that time the dairy farms were paid 68¢ a hundred weight for milk or slightly less than 1½ cents a quart.

In 1939 Earl and his family moved to Chadwick and both he and Emma went to work at the Willowvale Bleachery where new sheets and other cloth was bleached before being sold.

In 1940 Earl went to work at Savage Arms where he worked nights for three years in quality control. At that time they were making .30 caliber tommie guns and .45 calibre machine guns for aircraft. He then went to work at Remington Arms in Ilion until after WWII ended. He then went to work 3 years for Remington typewriter also in Ilion. While at Remington typewriter, Earl spent 8 months organizing the 3200 workers into a Union which was part of the United Electrical Union. He was the union's chief steward and chief negotiator for the workers.

606. Earl Stillman[9]

Earl then went back into farming for one year working "on the halves" at the "Crisp Farm" in Little Falls, NY.

About 1950, Earl returned to Savage Arms and worked as a machinist there for 4 years. He was chief steward of the Union at Savage Arms. During this time, Earl and his family lived in Ilion.

In 1954 Earl and his family moved to Wells, NY in the Adirondacks and Earl went to work for the Serfis glove company in Northville, NY. He worked 11 years at the glove factory. His job was "laying off" the gloves which involved placing the gloves on a mold where steam would be blown into them to more properly form them.

While in Wells, Earl, often with one of his sons, would go trout fishing for brook trout. Some of their favorite fishing spots were Mud Pond, County Line Creek, Pumpkin Hollow Creek and Car Creek. Earl also enjoyed deer hunting in the Wells area.

606. Earl Stillman[9]

In 1966 Earl + Emma moved from Wells to Frankfort, NY and Earl went to work at a nylon thread company in Utica where he maintained the spinning machines. Earl retired in 1969. In 1966 Emma went to work at the Duofold underwear factory in Mohawk as a machine operator. She retired in 1972.

In 1972 Earl and Emma moved to Herkimer, NY and in 1980 they moved to Bristol, Tenn. where there daughter Elizabeth had moved a few years earlier.

After his service, Pancho returned to the Cooperstown area and worked as a farm hand for a short time and then went to work for the Cooperstown Golf Course as a greenskeeper for six years. He then tended bar at the Glimmer Glass Restaurant in Cooperstown for about 8 years. In 1971 he went to work for the Remington Arms Corporation, a Firearms manufacturer, in Ilion, N.Y. He currently works for Remington Arms as a machinist (1989).

Charlotte worked 30 years at the Cooperstown Dry Cleaners.

Pancho and Charlotte rented a place in Cooperstown after their marriage. They then rented a place in Fly Creek and about 1971 bought their current (1989) home in Fly Creek.

The Cooperstown Dry Cleaners closed in May 1987 and since then until now (1989) Charlotte has done housework and ironing at private homes in the Fly Creek area.

As a young boy, Ronald was always punching so he got the name "punch". As he grew older, it became "pancho".

Crosswell was called either "Hank" or "Boone" by his parents, brothers and sisters. He used the name Floyd outside the family.

During WWI, he served with his brother Taine in France and was wounded by shrapnel in either the back or legs.

Shortly after marrying Carrie Tice, Crosswell moved to Springfield, MA. and in 1925 he & his family were living at 51 Sergeant St. and he was working as a machinist.

Shortly after Raymond was born, Crosswell and Carrie separated and he left Springfield and settled in Ilion, NY where he stayed primarily until his death which occurred at the VA hospital in Syracuse, NY.

Crosswell was named for the episcopal minister Crosswell Boone, in West Burlington, NY.

Crosswell never remarried after returning to NY State. He did not die until 1965, so the 1933-37 directories are incorrect to use the name widow.

Crosswell was in the 27th division in WWI.

On Dec. 27, 1934 Carrie (Tice) Talbot married Allison Raymond Stoddard, 29, of 184 Eastern Ave Springfield, b. Great Barrington, MA. son Charles Stoddard & Minnie Forrest. Carrie was living at 51 Sargeant St. when she married Allison.

As an adult, Crosswell used the name Floyd Burton ~~Talbot~~ even though he never legally changed his name. Within the family, he was also known as "Skinner".

Crosswell was in Company A of the 27th Division. He was hit in the knee and back by shrapnell on Oct. 12, 1918. He leaned his rifle up against an old apple tree, saying that he would not need it again, and limped back to a field hospital for treatment and never saw action again.

After returning from Massachusetts, Crosswell worked as a carpenter, a mason, and also at Remington Typewriter in Ilion for a while. He also worked at house-wrecking.
